HISTORICAL MEMORANDA.

WETHERSFIELD, Windsor and Hartford, the three oldest towns in Connecticut, were founded by colonists from Watertown, Dorchester and Newtown, Massachusetts, in the order mentioned, and originally under the same names. Such a migration, from the eastern coast to the interior, was first suggested by an Indian Sachem, Wahquimacut or Wahquinnacut, to the Governors of the Massachusetts and Plymouth colonies in 1631. The Governor of Massachusetts received him courteously, but declined to entertain his proposition. Governor Winslow of Plymouth, without directly acceding to it, could not wholly dismiss it from his mind; but went himself to spy out the riches of this Indian Paradise. His favorable report led to the erection of a trading house, near the mouth of Tunxis river at Windsor, under the sanction of the Plymouth colony, as early as October, 1633; and a similar one had been erected, by the Dutch from Manhattan, at Hartford, a short time before; but neither of these establishments seems to have been intended as the nucleus of a settlement. In September of the same year, Rev. Thomas Hooker, who had been driven into exile from England, for non-conformity, in 1630, accompanied by Samuel Stone, his assistant, followed and rejoined his old parishioners at Newtown, Mass., who, soon after his excision from his ministry, had fled to America under a mutual pledge of reunion. The crowded state of the settlement, where they met, led them to cast about for room; and the Connecticut valley, being at that moment the favorite Eldorado, they, with others, petitioned the General Court of Massachusetts for leave to transfer themselves thither. This petition, made in 1634, was at first rejected; but a number of the inhabitants of Watertown, during the autumn of the same year, disregarding the decision of the General Court, set out for the interdicted country, and arriving in season to construct temporary houses in which to pass the winter, made, it is believed, at Pyquag, now Wethersfield, the first settlement on the Connecticut River. In May following, (1635,) the old application of Hooker and his friends was renewed, and leave to remove reluctantly granted. During the summer of the same year, several of the people belonging to the congregation of the Rev. Mr. Wareham of Dorchester, removed to a point on the river a few miles above; and prepared to lay the foundation of the town of Windsor. The whole of that season, the Watertown settlers, in parties of a few families each, continued to make additions to the little company of pioneers at Wethersfield.

In the middle of October, Hooker and his friends, constituting a band of sixty persons, made up of families of every age, from infancy to second childhood, set out on their tedious march across the country, like the Israelites of old, with "their flocks and herds," for the "promised land." After a long and wearisome journey, they arrived at the river just in time to escape the rigors of winter; and most of them settled at Hartford, though some, having joined the caravan not originally parties to it, distributed themselves among the previous colonists at Wethersfield and Windsor. Of the members of the church in Watertown, Mass., who came to Wethersfield, only six were dismissed; to which number only one was added in the next six years. During this interval they received the ministerial labors of Rev. Richard Denton, Rev. John Sherman, and Rev. Peter Prudden.

Rev. Richard Denton had been a preacher in Halifax, Eng., before coming to this country. He came to Watertown in 1634, and to Wethersfield in 1635; where he remained until 1641, when he removed to Stamford, carrying a considerable number of families with him. Cotton Mather in his Magnalia, thus speaks of Mr. Denton:—“First at Wethersfield, and then at Stamford, his doctrines dropped as the rain, his speech distilled as the dew, as the small rain upon the tender herb, as the showers upon the grass. Though he was a little man, yet he had a great soul; his well accomplished mind, in his lesser body, was an Iliad in a nut-shell. I think he was blind of an eye; nevertheless he was not the least among the seers of our Israel; he saw a very considerable portion of those things which ‘Eye hath not seen.’ He was far from cloudy in his conceptions and principles of divinity; whereof he wrote a system, entitled ‘Soliloquia Sacra,’ so accurately considering the fourfold state of man, 1st, in his Created Purity, 2d, Contracted Deformity, 3d, Restored Beauty, and 4th, Celestial Glory, that judicious persons who have seen it, very much lament the churches being so much deprived of it. At length he got beyond clouds, and so beyond storms; waiting the return of the Lord Jesus Christ, in the clouds of heaven, when he will have his reward among the saints.” He returned to England in 1658, where he died.

Rev. John Sherman was born in Dedham, England, December 26, 1613, and educated at Cambridge University. He came to this country in 1634, and, after being an assistant to Mr. Philips of Watertown, came to Wethersfield in 1635; and went to Milford in 1640, where he was chosen teaching Elder, in connection with Mr. Prudden, which office he declined. He preached only occasionally in Connecticut. On the death of Mr. Philips, Mr. Sherman returned to Watertown in 1644. He died Aug. 8th, 1635, aged seventy-one.

Rev. Peter Prudden, born at Edgton, Yorkshire, in 1601, educated for the ministry, and ordained in England, preached awhile in Yorkshire and Hertfordshire, before coming to this country July 26, 1637.

While looking about for a home, he resided for a time at Wethersfield, and preached there. Upon his leaving Wethersfield, a considerable number of families accompanied him to Milford, and were among the principal settlers of that town. He was installed pastor of the church in Milford, April 18th, 1640, and died there, July, 1656. Cotton Mather describes him as "an example of piety, gravity, and boiling zeal against the growing evils of the times, yet possessed of a singular faculty to sweeten, compose, and qualify exasperated spirits, and to stop or heal all contentions. His death was felt by the colony, as the fall of a pillar which made the whole fabric shake."

After the removal of Messrs. Denton, Sherman and Prudden, the Rev. Henry Smith seems to have been the only remaining minister. He is said to have been a companion of the earliest settlers, and to have officiated as their preacher, but for reasons not given, to have temporarily withdrawn. On the 28th of February, 1641, the church in Wethersfield seems to have been, for the first time, regularly organized, and a ruling Elder, Clement Chaplin, appointed. There are no church records of that period extant, but the circumstance is found on the records of the town. The number of members, which it embodied, is unknown. Among them were Joseph Sherman, Joseph Strickland, Robert Reynolds and James Weed, who had been regularly dismissed from the church at Watertown.

Soon after his installation, some restless spirits began to visit him with persecution; and the controversy became at last so violent, that recourse was had to the General Court for adjustment. Their Committee reported, that "the best way for recovering and preserving the public peace, is, that Mr. Smith lay down his place, if it may be done according to God." This opinion was approved by the General Court, and a copy given to Mr. Smith, for his answer; with the request that, "if it was not satisfactory to him, he would point out some other course." A final hearing, Nov. 10th, 1643, resulted in

Mr. Smith's triumphant acquittal of the charges brought against him, and the imposition of heavy penalties on his false accusers. Among whom, it is painful to remark, that his ruling Elder, Mr. Chaplin, seems to have been most conspicuous. After this his ministry seems to have been without serious interruption, but it is thought that his trials preyed upon his health, and brought him prematurely to the grave in 1648, "grieved and wearied with the burdens of his charge."

After the death of Mr. Smith, the Rev. John Russell, Jun., became his successor, about 1650. He was born in England, but graduated at Harvard in 1645. Having completed his course of college studies, he prepared for the ministry, and was invited to settle at Wethersfield. Here he was ordained, and soon obtained a considerable standing, among the clergy of the colony, receiving an important appointment from the General Court, for the adjustment of grave points of doctrine then agitated by the church. The early part of his ministry seems to have been quiet, but the Hartford Controversy, as it was called, beginning to rage at this time, Mr. R. and part of his church became involved in it. "What the precise nature of the controversy was," Cotton Mather says, "it was difficult even at the time to tell." It was supposed, however, to relate to the reciprocal rights of clergy and laity; and so irreconcilable did the feud at last become, that Mr. Russell, with a large majority of his church, resolved to leave the colony. They removed to Hadley, Massachusetts, in the year 1659, and laid the foundation of that town and church.

After the removal of Mr. Russell, the Rev. John Cotton, Jr., was employed at Wethersfield, and remained there till 1663. He was born at Boston, March 13th, 1640, graduated at Harvard, 1657, and died in the ministry at Charleston, S. C., 18th of Sept., 1699, at the age of 60.

Rev. Joseph Haynes, son of Gov. Haynes of Hartford, supplied the pulpit during 1663 and 1664; at the close of which period, he received a call from the First Congregational Church at Hartford, which he accepted ; and at which place he died, at the age of 38, May 14th, 1679.

Rev. Thomas Buckingham succeeded him, as temporary supply for a short time ; was subsequently settled at Saybrook, and died April 1, 1709, aged 62.

Rev. Jonathan Willoughby, or Willaubece, preached for the church at Wethersfield, from Sept., 1664, to the spring of 1666.

Rev. Samuel Stone, son of the Rev. Samuel Stone of Hartford, preached at Wethersfield after the removal of Mr. Willoughby ; and also, while Mr. Bulkley, who succeeded, was absent as surgeon in the Indian wars. His death, 8th of October, 1693, was caused by a fall, at night, down the precipitous bank of the Little river, at Hartford.

Rev. Gershom Bulkley was the next regular incumbent of the pulpit. He was the son of Rev. Peter Bulkley of Concord, Mass. ; born, Dec. 26, 1635, graduated at Harvard, 1659, settled in New London, 1661, installed at Wethersfield, 1666, dismissed, 1677, died at Glastenbury, Dec. 2, 1713. His mother died, as was supposed, on her passage to this country, 1635 ; but, at the urgent request of the husband, her body was kept three days beyond the time appointed for committing it to the deep, when signs of vitality appeared, and she recovered. Her son Gershom was born soon after her arrival. After leaving college, he studied divinity and medicine, and settled at New London. Some difference of opinion having arisen, between him and his people, in regard either to doctrine or discipline, he resigned his place. After being installed at Wethersfield, he was appointed, by the General Court in 1675, surgeon to the army that had been raised against the Indians ; and Mr. Stone was directed to supply the place of Mr. B. in his absence. After his return from King Philip's war, he asked a dismissal from the church in Wethersfield, on account of the state of his health, removed to the east side of the river, and commenced practice as a physician, which he continued over thirty years. He married Sarah, only daughter of Pres. Chauncey. His ashes rest in the Wethersfield church-yard, under a table bearing the following inscription :—"He was honorable in his descent ; of rare abilities, extraordinary industry, excellent learning, master of many languages, exquisite in his skill, in divinity, physic, and law, and of a most exemplary and Christian life. In certam spem beatæ resurrectionis repositus."*

Rev. Joseph Rowlandson succeeded Mr. Bulkley. He was born in England, graduated at Harvard, 1652, being the whole of the graduating class ; was settled at Lancaster, Mass., in 1656, where he remained till the burning of that town by the Indians, in 1676. He was installed at Wethersfield in 1677, and died Nov. 24, 1678.

Rev. John Woodbridge succeeded Mr. Rowlandson in 1679. He was the son of an English clergyman, of the same name, and born at Newbury, in 1651 ; and graduated at Harvard, 1664. He was first settled at Killingworth, Conn., whence he removed to Wethersfield, and was installed pastor of the church in 1679, and resigned his ministry with his life, in 1691. "Whiting of Hartford, Woodbridge of Wethersfield, Wakeman of Fairfield," says Cotton Mather in his Magnalia, "will never be forgotten, till Connecticut Colony do forget itself, and all religion."

Rev. William Partridge, son of Col. Samuel Partridge of Hatfield, born Nov. 16, 1669, and graduated at Harvard, in 1689, was employed, as an assistant to Mr. Woodbridge during the few last years of his ministry, when, his declining health rendered him unequal to the discharge of its duties. After Mr. Woodbridge's death, he continued to occupy the pulpit until Feb., 1693, when he declined a call from the church to become their pastor, and died at Wallingford, the subsequent September, at the age of 24.

Rev. Stephen Mix succeeded Mr. Woodbridge in the pastorate, in

*The latin omitted in present inscription which has been recut.

1694, and his account of a long ministry of forty-four years, was sealed up, August 28, 1738. The earliest known records of the church are from his hand ; but, so impaired by time, as to be irrecoverable as a whole. Such names, as can be clearly deciphered, are given in the catalogue annexed. His ashes rest beneath a monumental tablet, in the ancient burial ground, which bears the following inscription :—

Here lies Interred the Body of the Rev. Mr. Stephen Mix, late Pastor of the first church in Wethersfield ; an able Minister, born in New Haven, and Educated at Cambridge College ; who, having served his generation, by the will of God,
fell asleep, August 28th, 1738, In the 66th year of his age, and 44th of his Ministry.

Rev. James Lockwood, son of James Lockwood of Norwalk, Conn., was ordained his successor, Feb. 28th, 1739, just prior to the memorable revival of 1740, which highly blessed New England. During the ministry of Mr. Lockwood, the celebrated Whitefield made his first and second visits. The people of Wethersfield were favored with his instructions, and felt their power. This was probably the first revival, with which this ancient church was visited. Mr. Lockwood closed his labors and entered into rest, in 1772, aged 59, having served his Divine Master thirty-three years in the ministry. His monument, near that of his predecessor, bears the following epitaph :—

To the memory of the Rev. James Lockwood, Late pastor of the first church of Christ in Wethersfield ;
Who, in the 34th Year of his Ministry and 58th of his Age,
on the 20th of July, 1772,
Entered into the Joy of his Lord.
As a Tutor, and afterwards one of ye Corporation of Yale College,

highly venerated and esteemed ;
 As a Minister of the Gospel, one whose praise
 is in the churches :
 Solicited to preside over two of the principal Academies in America,
 The Colleges at New Haven and Princeton,
 His Affection for the people of his charge
 did not permit
 His acceptance of either of these honorable stations ;
 But having respect to the Recompense of Reward, finished the pious course he early began in the Gospel Ministry,
 And here resteth from his Labours
 Through Life exerted ;
 “ The Bold to curb, and the Licentious awe
 And Turn the Tide of Souls another way.”

Rev. John Marsh, D. D., who succeeded Mr. Lockwood in the pastorate, was born at Haverhill, Massachusetts, on the 13th of Nov., 1742. His parents, descended from early settlers of New England, were eminent for their piety ; and his mother, a superior woman, inspired him from his childhood with the deepest reverence for divine things. He entered Harvard University at the age of fifteen, subsequently became one of its Tutors, and received from it the degree of Doctor of Divinity. On the 12th of January, 1774, he was ordained pastor of the church at Wethersfield, and continued in this relation until his death, 13th of Sept., 1821, in the 79th year of his life, and 48th of his ministry. Punctilious in the discharge of his official duties, he made the Sabbath honorable, its ordinances precious, and the sanctuary solemn as “ the gate of Heaven.” His spiritual graces were always peculiarly enlivened at the table of the Lord, and he habitually went from it with a heart full of gratitude and love, and a face beaming with holy joy. At the dying bed, he administered “ the oil of consolation ” with the utmost tenderness, in the language and the spirit of the gospel ; and at the grave, he dwelt with animating faith upon the promises that irradiate its gloom. A profound judge of human nature, he controlled the conflicting waves of public opinion with unerring skill; and acquired, by his frequent reconciliation of village feuds, the noble title of Peacemaker. Genial in temperament and courteous in manner, he was cordially "given to hospitality;" and propitiated an affectionate and reverential regard, alike from strangers and the people of his charge. The records of his ministry, kept with clerkly care, attest his official fidelity, and the blessing of God upon his labors. He died, as he had long lived, in the active service of his Master; and was followed to his rest by parents and children of many generations, who had learned from his lips to love and honor God, and confess Him before men. The labors of the last five years of his ministry were cheered and lessened by the co-operation of the Rev. Dr. TENNEY as his colleague; with whom he "took sweet counsel," and with whom he rejoiced, at his departure, over the fruits of their joint services for Christ. He reposes beneath a marble tablet, containing the following brief inscription:

In Memory of the Rev. John Marsh, S. T. D.
 A native of Haverhill, Mass., Graduate and Tutor of Harvard College, Pastor of the First Church of Christ in Wethersfield, and Fellow of Yale College.
 A Gentleman of great urbanity, distinguished scholarship, fervent piety, and an eminent Minister of the Gospel of Christ.
 Ordained Jan. 12, A. D. 1774.
 Died Sep. 13th, 1821, Æ 79.

CALEB JEWETT TENNEY, D. D., the next incumbent of the pastorate, was born at Hollis, N. H., May 3d, 1780. At the age of sixteen he became a convert to the truth, under the immediate influence of Davies' sermons, suggested to his perusal by his pious mother in the progress of a faithful training, "in the nurture and admonition of the Lord." He was graduated at Dartmouth College in 1801, receiving the first honor in a class distinguished by the membership of the Rev. Dr. Merrill and the Hon. Daniel Webster. In 1804 he was ordained at Newport, R. I. as successor of the Rev. Samuel Hopkins, D. D., who had died the previous year. About 1815 he was compelled, by the failure of his health, to resign this pastorate; but in 1816 he was so far restored as to be able to accept the call of the church at Wethersfield. Here, first installed as colleague, he became sole pastor at the death of Dr. Marsh in 1821. In 1833 a bronchial affection disabled him from discharging the duties of the pulpit, but so much had he endeared himself to his people, that they would not consent to sever the pastoral relation subsisting between them, until he felt himself impelled, by a regard to their interests, to ask for a dismissal, 12th Jan., 1841. Previous to this date, the same sympathy with him that, in the case of his predecessor, had led to his own appointment as colleague, had twice relieved him by the installation of two persons in succession to the same office in relation to himself, and he had become unwilling any longer to impose a double ministry upon this people. He became subsequently a very efficient agent of the American Colonization Society, in whose service he died at Northampton, 28th September, 1847, in the 68th year of his age.

Dr. Tenney was a thorough, bible christian, and his sermons were, to his spiritual hearers, like refreshing showers of heavenly manna. In the deep sense of his solemn responsibility, as a watchman for souls, he never stooped to the frivolous embellishments of style so popular with feeble minds; but uttered himself habitually with the severe simplicity of the Gospel; yet no dispassionate hearer ever listened to his earnest, affectionate, lucid and comprehensive expositions of divine truth, without a profound conviction of his sincerity and heaven taught wisdom. The tones of his voice were full of tenderness, and although to impulsive natures his elocution might ap-appear too unimpassioned to rouse sinners from the lethargy of guilt, yet the power of "the still, small voice" ever dwelt upon his lips, and convictions were perpetually stealing to the hearts of those who heard him. His ministry was eminently successful, and a "cloud of witnesses" will attest his faithfulness at the bar of God. "He was a good man, full of the Holy Ghost and of faith, and much people was added to the Lord." His ashes sleep by those of Brainerd, in the soil consecrated by the longest ministry of Edwards.

Rev. CHARLES J. WARREN was installed as colleague to Dr Tenney July 1st, 1835; dismissed Feb. 1st, 1837.

Rev. ROBERT SOUTHGATE, a native of Portland, Maine, succeeded him in the same office February 7th, 1838, and became sole pastor at Dr. Tenney's resignation, January 12th, 1841. Circumstances, however, induced him to ask a dismission Nov. 22, 1843.

Rev. MARK TUCKER, D. D., a native of Whitestown, N. Y., succeeded him as pastor Oct. 15, 1845, and continued to discharge the duties of the office until arrested by disease in 1855. During the disabilities incident to this attack, he concluded to ask for a dismission, and the pastoral relation was dissolved March 24th, 1856.

Rev. WILLIS S. COLTON, the present pastor, was ordained Sept. 17th, 1856.

FORM OF ADMISSION.

[The public reception of members into the communion of the church takes place just before the celebration of the Lord's Supper, and immediately after the sermon preceeding that ordinance. The candidates, as their names are called, present themselves in front of the pulpit, and are addressed by the Pastor as follows.]

You, who present yourself in this public manner, are now with all your heart and with all your soul, to enter into solemn covenant with God and this church:

Admiring the infinite condescension and grace of God in opening a door of life and salvation for perishing sinners, through the mediation and death of Jesus Christ, together with a sense of your own great unworthiness; you do now make choice of the living God for your God; of God, the Father, for your Father; of the Lord Jesus Christ, his only begotten Son, for your Lord and Saviour; of the Holy Ghost for your Sanctifier and Comforter, and of the word of God for the rule of your life and practice.

And you do dedicate and give up yourself to God, to be only his; to be guided by his spirit; to be ruled by his laws; to be disposed of by his providence, and to be eternally saved in the gospel way; promising by the help of Christ, (without which you can do nothing,) that you will live soberly, righteously, and godly, all your days.

Attend now to the

CONFESSION OF FAITH.

You believe there is one* self-existent,† independent‡ and eternal§ God; who possesses infinite perfection, excellency and glory;|| who is the Creator,¶ Preserver, and Governor of the universe.††

* Dent. 6 : 4 ; Isaiah 45 : 22 ; Mark 12 : 32. † Exodus 3 : 14. ‡ Dan. 4 : 35 ; Eph. 1 : 11 ; Phil. 2 : 13. § Psalm 90 : 2 ; Heb 1 : 12. || Job 11 : 7, 8, 9 ; James 1 : 17 ; Col. 2 : 3. ¶ Heb. 1 : 10 and 3 : 4, and 11 : 3 ; Gen. 1 : 1 ; Rev. 4 : 11.  Heb. 1 : 3. †† Psalm 83 : 18, and 103 : 19.

You believe there are three distinct persons in the Godhead,* the Father,† the Son,‡ and the Holy Ghost;§ and that these three are one God, the same in substance,|| equal in power and glory.¶

* Matt. 28 : 19 ; 2 Cor. 13 : 14 ; 1 John 5 : 7. † Matt. 7 : 21 and 11 : 27. ‡ Luke 24 : 52 ; John 1 : 1 ; Heb. 1 : 6. § Matt. 3 : 16 ; John 14 : 16, 17, 26 ; Acts 5 : 3, 4, || John 10 : 30. ¶ Phil. 2 : 6, 10, 11.

You believe the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments to be the word of God;* and the only infallible rule of faith and practice.†

* 2 Tim. 3 : 16; 2 Peter 1 : 21. † Isaiah 8 : 20; Luke 16 : 29; Mark 7 : 7, 8, 13; John 20 : 31; Acts 17 : 11; Gal. 1 : 8, 9; Rev. 22 : 18, 19.

You believe mankind were originally created in a state of holiness,* but have since fallen into a state of sin,† and are in consequence exposed to the wrath and curse of God, both in this life and that which is to come.‡

* Gen. 1 : 27; Eccl. 7 : 29. † Gen. 2 : 17 and 3 : 6; Rom. 5 : 18, 19 and 3 : 10, 23 and 5 : 12. ‡ Matt. 25 : 41; Rom. 6 : 23; Gal. 3 : 10; Eph. 5 : 6.

You believe that God, who is rich in mercy, has not left all mankind to perish in that estate of sin and misery; but from before the foundation of the world, has chosen some to everlasting life,* and ordained to bring them into a state of grace and salvation by a Redeemer.†

* Jer. 31 : 3; Acts 13 : 48; Rom. 11 : 7; John 3 : 16; Exod. 34 : 6, 7; 2 Peter 3 : 9. † Rom. 8 : 29, 30; Eph. 1 : 4—14; 2 Thess. 2 : 13; Rev. 17 : 14; 1 Peter 2 : 9.

You believe that the Lord Jesus Christ, who is both God and man in two distinct natures, and one person, is the only Redeemer;* that he hath offered up himself a sacrifice to God: and by his obedience and sufferings and death has made ample atonement for sin in our stead;† that he is now exalted at God's right hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, to grant repentance and remission of sins, to all who go unto God through him.‡

* 1 Tim. 2 : 5; Acts 4 : 12. † Heb. 7 : 27 and 9 : 12, 14, 22; 1 Peter 1 : 18, 19; Heb. 2 : 10; Isaiah 53 : 4, 5, 6; Rom. 5 : 6; 2 Cor. 5 : 21; Gal. 3 : 13; Eph. 5 : 2; Heb. 10 : 5, 10. ‡ Rom. 3 : 25, 26 and 4 : 5.

You believe in the doctrines of Regeneration,* Repentance† and Faith,‡ and that if ever we are saved, it will be owing to the free, rich and sovereign grace of God in Christ Jesus.§

* John 3 : 3 and 1 : 13. † Acts 2 : 38 and 3 : 19 and 11 : 18; Luke 13 : 3. ‡ Mark 16 : 16; Acts 16 : 31; John 3 : 18, 36. § Acts 4 : 12; 1 Cor. 3 : 11.

You believe in the final perseverance of the saints;* in the resurrection of the dead;† and in a future judgment.‡

* Job 17 : 9; John 10 : 27—29; Phil. 1 : 6; Col. 3 : 3; Heb. 10 : 39. † Dan. 12 : 2; Job. 19 : 26; Hosea 13 : 14; 1 Cor. 15 : 20—22; Rev. 20 : 12. ‡ Matt. 25 : 31, 32; Rom. 2 : 5—11; 2 Tim. 4 : 1; 2 Cor. 5 : 10.

You believe at the last day the Lord Jesus will descend from heaven, with a shout, and with the voice of the archangel, and with the trumpet of God, and will summon the whole human race to appear before him, to give an account of their conduct; and will then doom the wicked to everlasting destruction, and crown the righteous with immortal glory.*

* Matt. 26 : 64 and 16 : 27 and 25 : 13—33 and 25 : 34, 41, 46; John 5 : 28, 29; Rom. 14 : 10, 12; Acts 10 : 42; Heb. 9 : 28.

You believe that Christ has a church in the world, into which none in the sight of men but visible believers, have a right to enter.*

* Psalm 50 : 16; Matt. 16 : 19 and 18 : 17; 1 Cor. 1 : 2; 2 Cor. 1 : 1 and 6 : 14—18.

You believe that the sacraments of the New Testament are Baptism* and the Lord's Supper;† that believers in regular standing only, can consistently partake of the Lord's Supper; and that visible believers and their households only, can consistently be admitted to the ordinance of Baptism.‡

* Matt. 28 : 19; 1 Peter 3 : 21. † Matt. 26 : 26—30. ‡ Luke 18 : 15, 16; Acts 2 : 29 and 16 : 33, 34; 1 Cor. 1 : 16; Gal. 3 : 27—29.

Thus you profess to believe.

[If any are to be received on certificate from other churches, their names are here announced, who rise in their several places as a convenient and pleasant introduction to their new associates.]

You likewise covenant with this Church, that you will walk in its order and submit to its discipline, seek its peace and welfare, and treat its members with that tenderness and fidelity which become the disciples of Christ and brethren of the same household.

This you severally promise and engage.

[The ordinance of Baptism, if not previously received, is here administered, the candidates successively kneeling at the font; when the Pastor proceeds as follows:]

In consequence of these your professions and engagements, we, the members of this Church, [here the Church rise,] affectionately receive you into our communion, and in the name of Christ declare you entitled to all the privileges of this Church. We welcome you to a fellowship with us in the blessings of the gospel, engaging on our part to love you as Christians, to pray for you, and seek your edification as we can, and willingly to be admonished and directed by you in the right ways of the Lord with all meekness and humility, so long as you shall continue among us.

[When members remove to other places, it is their duty to ask, and ours to grant, a recommendation to another church, for they can not withdraw from Christian communion without breaking their covenant.]

And now, beloved in the Lord, let it be impressed on your minds, that you have entered into solemn relations, which you never can renounce. These vows will be upon you for ever. Rejoice with exceeding joy because of those indissoluble bonds which connect you with Christ and his people. Forget not this day. Be faithful unto death; for if found faithful, it will not be long before you are admitted into that world where no longer through the medium of ordinances, but with open face you shall behold the glory of the Lord, and changed into the same image, from glory to glory, shall dwell for ever in His presence. May the Lord guide and preserve you through this transitory life, and at last receive you and us to that blessed world where our love and joy shall be for ever perfect. Amen.

STANDING RULES

A D O P T E D B Y T H I S C H U R C H .

December 29, 1844. Voted, That whenever members of the church leave the place, they be required to take a letter of recommendation or dismissal, within one year after so doing.

Voted, That no letter of recommendation shall be considered as good for a longer period than one year; and that this vote be incorporated in every letter of recommendation.

January 10, 1848. Voted, That no person who shall make application for admission into this church upon a letter of recommendation from any other evangelical church, shall be admitted upon the first hearing of such letter, but shall stand as an applicant until after a second hearing of such letter, before being received into the church.

January 8, 1849. That in all cases of discipline requiring the action of the church, it shall be the duty of the standing committee to investigate the charges, facts and testimony relating thereto, and report the same in such form and manner, that the church can have the whole subject before them and be prepared for immediate action in the premises.

February 9, 1852. Voted, That when any member of this church shall withdraw and divide himself from the communion of the church, or shall neglect the services and ordinances of the sanctuary, and when all due means of reclaiming and restoring him prove ineffectual, the church may by a major vote at any regular meeting, justly esteem and declare itself discharged and absolved from any further inspection over him.

CHURCH NOTICES.

The seasons of Sacramental Communion occur only on the first Lord's day in the months of January, March, May, July, September and November.

A Lecture preparatory to the solemnity is attended in the Chapel, on Friday afternoon next preceding each sacramental occasion.
